

Terms and Conditions

Disclaimer

Liability claims against the PSOTC referring to material or immaterial damage or loss caused by the use or misuse of provided information or the use of inaccurate or incomplete information are precluded absent deliberate or grossly negligent actions on the part of the PSOTC.

All offered information is subject to change and is unaccommodating. The PSOTC explicitly reserves the right to change parts of the website or the whole site, including supplementing, deleting, publishing additional content or final cessation, without notice.

The PSOTC website provider cannot be held responsible for any information given through hyperlinks found on the PSOTC website or related sub-sites. The attachment of external links or tools leading to sub-sites from the PSOTC web site is strictly prohibited unless permission is granted by the PSOTC website provider. Regarding direct or indirect links leading to sub-sites outside the area of accountability applicable to this website, the PSOTC is only responsible for sites, sub-sites, or their content if the web-team is actually aware of the presence of illegal content or if it reasonably appears to have been technically feasible to anticipate their use in case they contain illegal content.

The PSOTC certifies that the sites linked to the PSOTC website did not contain illegal content at the time the links were established. The PSOTC has no influence on the current or prospective design, content or authorship of external sites. Thus, the PSOTC is not responsible for any links or sub-sites which have been changed after being placed on this website. Any liability for illegal, incomplete or defective content, particularly for loss or damage arising from the use or misuse of such content, will be the exclusive responsibility of only the provider of the sub-site to which the user was led, and not the provider of the website presenting the link, i.e. the PSOTC. This statement is applicable to all links provided by the PSOTC and references and moreover for guestbook entries, forums or mailing lists.

The PSOTC website contains information on the institution itself, its personnel, its ongoing courses and related topics. It is strictly prohibited to use such information for unauthorized purposes. Such information is only provided to inform the public about the center and its mission. Any information available on this website has been controlled by the Public Affairs authority. Due to difficulties related to the updating process, neither the Public Affairs authority nor the PSOTC web designer cannot be held responsible for any lack of accuracy such as correctness, completeness or quality, occurring after the moment of publication on the website. Moreover, the Public Affairs authority is not responsible for any loss or damage caused by the downloading of software from the PSOTC website absent acts with the intent to cause harm or constituting negligence on the part of PSOTC personnel.

The disclaimer is part of the PSOTC website. Should parts of its text or single passages or wordings not comply with the current law due to a change of the latter, then the remaining passages shall not lose their validity.

Copyright

All rights reserved by the PSOTC. All information provided on the PSOTC website remains intellectual property of the PSOTC and are to be handled in compliance with the rules of copyright law, unless express permission is explicitly granted.

It is prohibited to make use of any information provided on this website, unless a written authorisation has been granted by the PSOTC. Such written authorisation shall herewith be granted in case of use for non-commercial purpose, i.e. private, scientific or educational use. Without written authorisation it is strictly prohibited to copy, save or store data on another server, include them in news-groups or save them on CD. Any information presented to third parties must unmistakably show a PSOTC copyright indication so that the delivering person shall not be mistaken for the author. Fulfilling these conditions, material may be downloaded, saved or stored in a cache or proxy-server.

The PSOTC explicitly reserves the right to abrogate the above permissions at any time. The PSOTC will respect foreign copy rights in all its publications, if they contain graphics, audio or video clips of foreign origin.

All third party content on this website is used with permission or otherwise in accordance with law. Any visitors to the PSOTC website must ensure protected content is handled in accordance with copyright law or trademark law. The mere mentioning or showing of trademarks on this website must not lead to the impression that they are not protected by the right of a registered owner. The copyright for published documents written or designed by the PSOTC remains solely with the PSOTC.

Data Protection

Any information provided by users of the PSOTC website is provided on a strictly voluntary basis. Should the website contain an optional input of personal or professional user data (email, address, name) the user is not required to provide the data.

When the PSOTC website is visited, the PSOTC can collect some data for reasons of evaluation, analysis and statistics. Reconciliation with other data pools or circulation to third persons is strictly prohibited.

In case of official requests or any kind of feedback personal data must be used only for that purpose, including methods and means of delivery. The usage data gathered will not be provided to third persons.